Clark Partington Law Firm Selects and Installs Orion's Practice Management System

Exchange/Smartphone Sync and Worldox Integration are Deciding Factors for Northwest Florida Law Firm

Atlanta, GA – November 22, 2010 – Orion Law Management Systems, Inc. (www.orionlaw.com) announces that Florida law firm Clark, Partington, Hart, Larry, Bond & Stackhouse (www.cphlaw.com) has purchased and installed Orion's Practice Management System. The firm has relied on Orion's Financial Management System for its accounting, time capture and billing since 1998.

After looking at several client/server and cloud-based practice management software programs, Clark Partington decided to buy Orion's Practice Management module for contact, calendar and task management as well as its Worldox integration and Exchange Sync capability.

"Since we have been using Orion's Financial Management module for over a decade, we know that Orion's software is robust and well-supported," said Will Dunaway, Partner at Clark Partington. "Our due diligence led us to look at several competing products, but none were as full featured and tightly integrated as the Orion system. We are already realizing a significant return on our investment in Orion Practice Management because we are capturing more time per attorney per month. Additionally, the Exchange Sync module allows our mobile attorneys to access their Orion contacts and events on their Smartphones. Orion has great people and outstanding technology – we are very pleased with our purchase."

According to Paul Yelton, President of Orion Law Management Systems, Inc., "Clark Partington has been an Orion customer for 12 years and we are happy to offer them a fully-integrated front-office practice management system to complement their back-office accounting and billing system. The beauty of Orion is its comprehensiveness and tight integration, which helps the administrative staff of a law firm as well as the lawyers themselves. We are proud to have Clark Partington as a customer.”
